

The Architectural Award for Restoration Excellence

The 2006 Architectural Award for Restoration Excellence was presented to the Glenn Family for restoration and adaptive reuse of the Jefferson Blount Harvey Building as a gift & flower shop. Originally built as a premium department store in the 1920s, the façade of the Jefferson Blount Harvey Building was covered by a modern brick skin in the late 1960s. To restore the building to its past glory, the original brick was repaired and replaced and new ornamentation was installed to match the original terra cotta detailing. The renovated interior of the building combines state-of-the-art systems with Jazz-era elegance.
